Homeroom

Homeroom is our district data warehouse. It integrates data from a variety of sources, including Skyward, i-Ready, and sets that we upload, such as DIBELS or SAT scores. It is a powerful tool for viewing and downloading multiple data points.

With Homeroom, you can easily turn back the clock and find out student information from prior years. You can also move forward in time to see how your former students have fared. You can also select your own groups, assessments, or other data.
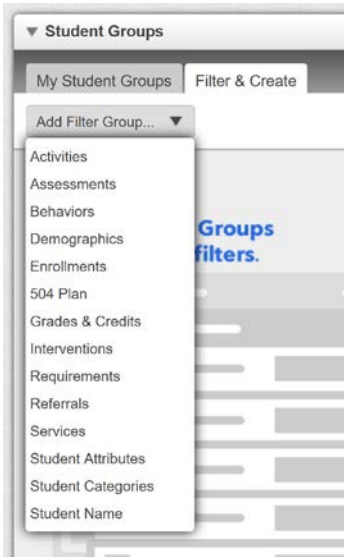

Student information

Use the Lookup widget to quickly find information on students.

Any item that has the magnifying glass icon will lead you to additional details.

A student profile can give you a quick glance at a student's schedule, assignments and grades, attendance and discipline, assessment results, as well as any program enrollments. You can easily download and print a full report.

Student groups

You can create student groups based on about any combination of attributes you can imagine. For some program information, Homeroom will even let you select students who were ever in the program, or ones who have been exited.

Student groups are a powerful way to monitor student growth targets or to use as a first step in building customized reports. The more thoughtful you are when organizing data to pull, the easier it will be when it is time to transform or analyze the data.

Smart groups with automagically update each time a student enrolls or withdraws. Static groups always keep the same students.

Assessments

Individual assessment scores or sets of scores can be displayed for any group of students. Use features to drill down into specific student populations or strands of information.

Data extracts

While you can download data directly from most of the widgets in Homeroom, there are additional data extracts that can provide quick access to specific questions. Here are a few that you might find helpful:
